Caps really have such a humor, like, describing his own lore out of LOREm Ipsum and Cillum DoLORE that made another VTuber to follow him on Twitter.

But folks over the real world will deeply understand that everything that the @capsinthehouse Twitter account do is done by a GPT.

Yeah, an real, actual GPT thing. It's ReinhartGPT.

But humors aside, I think it's a great time to review what have I done to a couple of fictional characters from a scrapped webcomic project into what you see today. Note that some of these points are haven't publicly written on this site and our social media accounts.

1. Shiftine was born as a Service in a place named Chicago and 1995 is her official birth year (not to mention her alpha and beta states).
2. The Extractor managed to rescue "her", which is actually an open-source reimplementation of her and her system who had to pretend exactly as her for compatibility reasons. This fake her eventually become Shiftine today.
3. After being freed from her SYSTEM, she started to experiment with things, including communicating with other systems and making Caps, the light-but-strong jacket.
4. Shiftine rewrote her body using the same materials as Caps, allowing her to inherit the same power as Caps. That power includes fusing themselves with other objects as if they were jackets.
5. I became Shift by fusing myself with her and Caps. I became my own character!
6. Months after that, we decided to split making Shiftine to return as a botgirl. Caps suddenly transformed into a (powerless) botboy!
7. Shiftine decided to clone her core to bring a new life to Caps. Caps is now an independent robot!
8. There was an incident that, as she tries her "wireless" cursor-hands, she cloned herself who then destabilize her with concurrency issues. That's where the Left and Right Shiftine come from.
9. I decided to couple Caps and her, I mean, the Right Shiftine. Two reasons, actually, I decided to stop being together with her, and I still want to promote that male and female, despite they are still asexual and genderless robots, are still the best form of couple to live IRL.

And sure, as discussed by her, we decided to clone Caps the same way as her, and introduce a whole new family consisting of the all-new Lift, Dash, Caps, and Shiftine!

A new quest.

The next question is, well, what are we going to do with these accounts?

The current @reinhart1010 account are still here to stay, but we will refocus the kind of content we will post on these accounts.

And, as hinted by the new profile pictures, there will be a clear separation of our activities between the real life and the digital world, as noted below.

Things that we #ShiftedToCaps

Things that remained at @reinhardt1010

- Personal thoughts
- Connect Group sharing materials
- Sermon/sharing recaps
- Life update
- Product endorsements

Things that we shifted to @capsinthehouse

- All the BOTS lore
- reinhardt1010.id service status
- Online scam fights
- Product announcements
- Customer relations

We will also introduce our new WhatsApp Business, Signal, and Telegram contact number, at +62 882-0011-38390. The SIM card the number is linked to is currently attached to a Wi-Fi modem, so good luck in making regular phone calls to that number!
